

California Notice at Collection

CALIFORNIA CONSUMER PRIVACY ACT (CCPA) NOTICE AT COLLECTION

The CCPA requires businesses to give consumers certain information in a “notice at collection.” A notice at collection must list the categories of personal information businesses collect about consumers and the purposes for which they use the categories of information. This section is intended to provide the Notice at Collection required under the CCPA.

- CSI Companies may collect personal information from you and use it for specific purposes. For a list of the categories of personal information that we collect and the purposes for which we use such Personal Information, see the following sections above:
 - Information We Collect
 - Purpose of Collection
- CSI Companies does not sell your personal information. We may share personal information with third parties.
- To opt-out of the sharing of personal information, see the section Opt-Out of Selling or Sharing My Personal Information.
- For more information about our California Privacy Policy, see CSI's Privacy Statement for California Residents.
- For our general privacy policy, see our Privacy Statement.
